

Residents Building Better Texas City After Blast

By MAX B. SKELTON
TEXAS CITY, Tex., April 11 (AP)—Growing pains are replacing Texas City's scars and twisted debris.
A year ago next Friday—April 16—a series of waterfront explosions brought destruction to this little Texas coastal city.
Docks were wrecked. The shipping channel and slips were filled with debris. Tightly clustered industrial plants were wrecked or seriously crippled. There were 512 persons dead or missing, 3000 injured, 3382 homes and 130 business structures destroyed or damaged.
But residents rallied quickly with determination to soothe their heartaches with an even greater Texas City.
There is striking evidence today of progress made during 12 brief months.
THE CITY'S population, only 5748 in 1940, has jumped since the past April from 18,000 to 27,000, and there are predictions of 40,000 within three to five years.
With a single exception, the city's industrial plants are back in operation with production figures equal to or greater than a year ago.
Practically every industrial plant has expansion programs underway or on drafting boards and city officials say prospects are good for new plants that may exceed $100,000,000 in value.
The ship channel is being dredged to facilitate increased operations and a 12,000-foot barge canal that will open new waterfront areas for development is two-thirds completed.
In March 1947 the port handled 1,061,000 tons of cargo, including bulk liquid, dry cargo and sea train operations. In February of this year, 10 months after the disaster, the still wrecked waterfront handled 1,028,000 tons of bulk liquid and sea train shipments.
EIGHTY PERCENT of homes and business houses damaged in the disaster have been repaired and over 600 new homes or dwelling units and 217 new business structures have been constructed.

This scene of a serene business street is evidence of the progress made by Texas City residents along the road of construction. Just a year ago Friday, this street was destroyed by a blast in Texas City harbor which almost completely wiped out the town. Residents are determined to build a bigger and better Texas City than the one destroyed in that terrific explosion.

Republicans Deny Dewey, Taft Agreed To Pool Strength at National Convention

OMAHA, April 11 (AP)—A Democrat's assertion that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Senator Robert A. Taft have agreed to pool their strength at the GOP national convention was labeled as "absurd" today by Senator Hugh Butler (R-Neb.).
Butler told a reporter he is sure "there is no truth at all" to the report voiced in San Francisco by Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath that the two presidential contenders have agreed to throw their delegates to whichever is the stronger in presidential nominating tests.
"That's absurd," declared Butler, who is managing Taft's campaign in Nebraska's popularity primary voting next Tuesday. Dewey and five others are entered along with Taft in the contest.
"There isn't any deal," Butler continued. "Bob Taft is in this to win and I am very confident that he's going to do just that next Tuesday. It will be a close, hard fight but I think Taft has the stuff to win."
THROUGH HIS headquarters at Lincoln, Neb., Harold E. Stassen, another top contender, predicted that he will win Tuesday's popularity contest if his workers "follow through to the closing of the polls."
"We may lag somewhat in the early returns," Stassen said in a statement, "but there are many indications that by the time all of the farm votes are counted we will lead the state-wide total."
Stassen's reference apparently was to the farm vote in the western part of the state, where counting starts later in the mountain time zone.
His cautiously-worded prediction was interpreted as indicating the race is extremely close, in his opinion.
The statement contrasted with Stassen's flat claim before the Wisconsin vote the past Tuesday that he would win 14 delegates. He won 18 of the 27 there.
McGRATH said the purported deal had been made between Dewey and Taft since the Wisconsin primary, where Harold E. Stassen gave the New York governor a political licking in which the latter was blanketed out in his campaign for delegates.
There has been no open evidence of co-operation between the Dewey and Taft forces in the Nebraska campaign. Both camps, however, have centered their fire on Stassen since the Wisconsin voting, practically ignoring each other.
Butler has been blasting away at what he calls an "invasion" of the state by Stassen's friends, including Senators McCarthy (R-Wis) and Thye (R-Minn) and Gov. Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota.
Dewey made no direct reference to Stassen in a three-day tour of the state ending last night. But his lieutenants told newspapermen they think Stassen—no Taft—is the man to beat in Nebraska.
The opinion among politicians here is that Dewey and Taft will cut into the same vote to some extent.
En route by plane to New York, Dewey told reporters he is confident he will be the first of candidates in the Nebraska voting Tuesday.
Assuring that "the great issues of our times have been openly and freely discussed in this Nebraska primary."

LAKE SUCCESS, April 11 (AP)—Prince Faisal of Saudi Arabia will spearhead the Arab drive to kill the United Nations Palestine partition scheme, authoritative sources indicated today.
The prince, second son of King Ibn Saud and Saudi Arabian foreign minister, will be the country's chief delegate to the special U. N. assembly on Palestine beginning Friday.
It was apparent the Arabs were lining up their big guns for the assembly. Prince Faisal seldom spoke the past fall in the regular assembly but Arab strategy usually was planned in his skyscraper hotel suite. He gave the signal for the Arab walk-out on Nov. 29 in protest against the 33 to 13 vote by which the delegates approved the partition plan.
The Security Council will make another attempt to draw up Palestine truce conditions tomorrow in an informal meeting at 10 a. m. EST in the United States delegation offices in New York. The U. S. delegate, Warren R. Austin, is making a strong effort to end violence and bloodshed in the Holy Land by a truce between the Jewish agency for Palestine and the Arab higher committee.
AUSTIN WAS SAID to feel encouraged over truce prospects. But the Jews and Arabs were reported standing on conditions which so far have barred a truce agreement.
One informed source said Austin felt that neither the Arabs nor the Jews could offer provisions for a truce but that both sides are anxious to avoid anarchy and bloodshed.

CYCLIST KILLED BY CAR
MEADVILLE, April 11 (AP)—Richard Paul Fernberg, 18, of RD 3, Meadville, was killed last night when an automobile struck his motorcycle on Route 19, four miles southwest of here. The driver of the car failed to stop.

ARABS RETAKE KEY OUTPOST IN FIERCE FIGHT

Kastel Falls Again After Jewish Occupation; 254 Die at Deir Yassin
JERUSALEM, April 11 (AP)—Counterattacking Arabs tonight recaptured Kastel in an assault against the Jewish garrison there, the British army reported.
Fighting still was going on in the hilly terrain where 100 Jews and 300 Arabs already have lost their lives in a series of bitter clashes. Heavy shooting sounded in the area. The extent of the casualties in tonight's fighting was not known.
Kastel, a key hilltop fortress five miles west of Jerusalem, has changed hands almost daily for the past nine days. Haganah, the Jewish militia, had re-entered the town only last night.
Kastel and the nearby village of Deir Yassin command a section of the vital Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway. Ultimately the side which holds the highway likely will determine whether the 100,000 Jews in Jerusalem can remain unconfined.
THE JEWISH extremist groups, Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern gang took Deir Yassin Friday and still are entrenched there. All Arabs and many Jews now describe the Irgun-Stern attack on the village as a "horrible massacre." A Red Cross check showed many women and children among the 254 Arab dead there.
The Arab higher committee called on Moslems and Christians everywhere to "consider the facts of the massacre of innocent people by Jews at Deir Yassin and to decide the world's reaction to it."
The committee's general secretary, Dr. Hussein el Khalidi, handed newsmen this statement:
"Deir Yassin where this outrage occurred is practically the only (Arab) village in the Jerusalem area which had not yet appealed to any Arab authority as being in danger of Jews. It lives surrounded by Jews and for four months has been living under an agreement of non-molestation."
Finns Reported To Have Signed Pact To Save Defenses
HELSINKI, April 11 (AP)—Responsible Finnish sources said today the new Russo-Finnish security pact had its origin in Finland's desire to save some of the almost impregnable defenses hewn in the rocks along her coast and off-shore islands.
The first step was taken in September, 1944, after the armistice between the Soviet Union and Finland. Marshal Carl Gustav Mannerheim, then Finnish president, expressed the hope of salvaging something from defeat which could serve Finland later in helping her defend herself and maintain her independence.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Building a truly tight radar "fence" to warn the United States of enemy air attacks is being talked. It may cost several billion dollars and require thousands of men to operate it.
These, it was learned today, are only two of many problems encountered by military and civilian experts studying the requirements for an adequate air raid warning system.
But, military leaders say, an "early warning" must be had if defensive fighter plane and ground anti-aircraft organizations are to be of value. They must be alerted in time to repel attack.
The estimate by some that the cost will run into billions is based on two points: (1) Radar sets are intricate and expensive; (2) many stations would be required to establish an effective screen with no loopholes.
THIS LATTER requirement arises out of the fact that radar, in its present stage, is of limited range, thus requiring numerous points to provide a continuous chain. Moreover, many of the stations must be installed in remote areas where construction and maintenance is both difficult and expensive. One such region is the arctic rim of North America.
Although a start has been made in Alaska and Northern Canada, there now is nothing like an adequate network capable of spotting a strange aircraft coming across the polar cap or approaching over the icy great circle courses traversing Alaska or Greenland and Eastern Canada.
The first stations of the warning system are being built by the Air Force in Alaska after a survey started over a year ago. Similar efforts in Canada are being carried forward as a joint Canadian-United States enterprise.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Revision of the United Nations charter is one of four constructive moves this country should push in a drive to maintain peace, Senator Baldwin (R-Conn) said today.
In addition, he told a reporter the United States should:
Help other nations to economic solvency and political freedom;
Bolster U. S. defenses by strengthening the air force, authorizing a limited and temporary draft system, and establishing universal military training;
Maintain and strengthen this nation's own economy.
Baldwin is one of the leaders of a Senate group which plans to introduce tomorrow a resolution designed to bring about wide revisions in the U. N. charter.
The immediate objectives, which appear to have broad bipartisan support, are to prevent wars of aggression, limit armaments (including atomic weapons), and establish an effective international police force.
This would involve, among other things, eliminating the veto rights of the five permanent Security Council members in matters of aggression, armaments for aggression and admissions to U. N. membership.
The five permanent members are the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France and China.

GOP Leader Predicts Passage of Air Plan

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Expanded air power—certainly. A limited draft of fighting age men—probably. Universal military training—unlikely.
That was the forecast of Senator Edward V. Robertson (R-Wyo.), a member of the Senate armed services committee, today on Congressional prospects for new defense legislation.
A top-ranking Republican leader, who asked that his name not be used, agreed with Robertson's prediction that:
1. A big expansion of combat air power will be approved quickly. This probably will be the increase from 55 to 70 combat groups asked by Air Force leaders.
2. A limited and temporary draft of unmarried non-veterans between 19 and 25 will be written into law after some debate in both Houses.
3. The long range universal military training program will be shelved for the time being in order to push the other two programs.
A group in the House is talking of writing so strict a draft law it would encourage enlistments to the point the draft may never be needed. For example, one lawmaker is proposing that pay for a buck private who enlists would be $50 a month as against $30 for a draftee. Deferments would be hard to get.
Both Senate and House leaders say they want to act on the military legislation as soon as possible, but they also say it will take from two to four weeks or longer before any part will clear Congress.
"There is almost no opposition to putting the Air Forces on a fighting strength basis at once," Robertson told a reporter. "This could go through both the Senate and House in a hurry if considered alone."
ROBERTSON SAID the temporary draft faces a fight.
"It probably will get approval," he said. "But it may be restricted considerably. My guess is that it would take two months to complete registration of men from 18 through 30 years. Then some members of Congress will want to delay actual inductions another 60 days. They believe that passage of a draft may boost voluntary enlistments enough so actual drafting may be avoided."

VIENNA, April 11 (AP)—Official British sources said tonight new Soviet restrictions had brought highway traffic between the British zone of Austria and Vienna to a virtual standstill.
The informants said Soviet troops at Semmering pass, a checkpoint about 50 miles from Vienna, demanded that automobile travellers produce passports or identity cards with photographs.
The past week the Russians requested the Americans to remove their radio range station for the Tullin air base. The base and range station are in the Soviet occupation zone of Austria.
British sources said Maj. Gen. T. J. Winterton, deputy British high commissioner, was delayed more than an hour at the checkpoint today. He was said to be making a personal protest to the Russians.
THESE SOURCES said the British concede the Russians the right to inspect passports or identity cards of British civilians, but added:
"The British are not prepared to go back on the four power agreement of 1945 which specified grey cards as the only passes needed for interzonal travel."
When Winterton arrived at the checkpoint he found passengers of four other British automobiles detained. He identified himself and requested permission to proceed to Vienna.

HOLYOKE, Colo., April 11 (AP)—A huge prairie fire which claimed the lives of four men and caused an estimated $200,000 damage to 75 square miles of rangeland in northeastern Colorado and southwestern Nebraska was brought under control early today.
The men were trapped by a sudden shift of the wind while they fought the fire.

SCIENTISTS URGE TALK WITH REDS TO AVOID WAR

Key Atomic Figures Say Civilization Lost If Agreement Not Reached
PRINCETON, N. J., April 11 (AP)—Leading atomic scientists, warning of "the total collapse of our traditional civilization" urged today diplomatic negotiations between the U. S. and Russia "at the highest governmental levels."
The Emergency Committee of Atomic Scientists, headed by Dr. Albert Einstein, said "there are no serious negotiations going on anywhere in the world today between the United States and Russia." This is "dangerous to world peace," the committee said in a statement.
The committee long has advocated world government as the key to peace, and Dr. Einstein said today that "partial world government — without Russia — might convince the Soviet Union that she cannot oppose it."
HE SAID A WORLD federation might be based on the United Nations organization. He observed smiling, however, that this would be "a quantum jump."
The committee said in a statement that without world government there may be "a preventative war," or a two-bloc world "eventful termination in war."
The committee said with the "collapse of the U. N. atomic energy commission discussions on international control, one of the most fateful events in history has passed almost unnoticed."
"This is the time for taking stock of reality and facing up to the facts," it said.
The committee said it was moved to speak out again because scientists have "a special position in the tragic situation in which mankind exists today. It is through the work of the scientific community that this great menace (the atomic bomb) has come upon humanity and now threatens to destroy civilization."

ROBERTSON SAID the temporary draft faces a fight.
"It probably will get approval," he said. "But it may be restricted considerably. My guess is that it would take two months to complete registration of men from 18 through 30 years. Then some members of Congress will want to delay actual inductions another 60 days. They believe that passage of a draft may boost voluntary enlistments enough so actual drafting may be avoided."

MONDAY, APRIL 12, 1948

The Greatest Need

SHELTER is the most important of the four basic necessities of life—food, fuel, clothing and shelter.

A home is more than a physical necessity. It is the plant in which citizens are produced.

Pottstown no more can turn out first class citizens in its overcrowded condition than you can turn out B28s in the Dayton garage where the Wright brothers put together their first flying machine.

Pottstown Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer peeked into a few High Street "apartments" the past week and reported:

"Pottstown's housing shortage has created high-priced 'flop houses.'"

Some of his sad revelations were:

Clothes closets have been converted into rented rooms.

A man had as his only room a bathroom with a bed in it.

A reception hall had been partitioned into three "rooms."

In the face of this, Pottstown is denying there is a housing shortage. Representatives of several local groups would seek to convince the homeless and the over-crowded that everything is rosy in the housing field.

"In the near future we may expect to have . . . more new housing," preened a civic leader the other day.

His group had opposed Federal housing years ago. Now it was quoting figures to show the great amount of housing going up here.

And then these leaders mutually admired each other for "aid in bringing home construction to the borough," as The Mercury reported the speech.

The truth is the back-slappers had nothing to do with any of the new housing construction!

Pottstown today is answering the bitter need of families with "No Children" signs on homes and apartments. It is leaving those unfortunate enough to have three or more children out of account when new apartments are planned.

Pottstown is ignoring the needs of minority groups by forcing Negroes to crowd up in increasingly inadequate sections where the housing is several times worse than that elsewhere.

Most insidious is the local practice of alleged civic groups in denouncing public housing at every turn as dangerous and socialist while claiming on the one hand that private enterprise can take care of all our housing needs, BUT ON THE OTHER HAND ASSESSING THAT HOUSING COSTS CAN'T BE BROUGHT DOWN TO THE LOW-INCOME LEVEL!

Most fatal to Pottstown's expansion is the subtle lobbying that opposes every proposal for aid or relief in the housing situation, offers no solution of its own, and tries to persuade persons that they ought to be satisfied with things as they are!

Plumber, Indeed!

THE British are building their homes out of a new material called "plumber," the name of which is derived by eliding the words "plastic timber," which is what it is. Meanwhile, most of the houses in this country are being built nowadays of a new material called grumber.

Grumber, an elision of the words "green lumber," achieves some novel effects in doors and windows that won't open if they are closed or close if they are open. Another remarkable innovation is the dwuprnt, or housing blueprint for dwarfs, for whom most of the present-day residences seem to be going up.

The shining new achievement, however, is the financing plan known as mortrupicy, which combines the principal features of the mortgage with the principal features of bankruptcy. American inventive genius marches on!

A Descending Curve

INASMUCH as Gov. Dewey's try in the Wisconsin primary was his third in as many presidential election years, it is in order to summarize his several performances for comparative purposes. They are as follows:

- 1940—won 24 delegates.
- 1944—won 17 delegates.
- 1948—won 0 delegates.

There is only one way to read a chart like this: the voters of Wisconsin like Tom Dewey less each time he runs. If he ever moves from Albany to the White House, it won't be on account of encouragement in the Badger State.

Matter for Diplomacy

To the Editor: I have just finished reading an account of an incident in your paper involving a resident of Walnut street and one of Pottstown's finest.

If the reporting of this incident is correct (in stating the resident involved only drew back his arm and closed his fist and not mentioning a blow struck), how does that constitute a charge of assault and battery.

To my mind the arresting officer should have controlled his temper and used a little diplomacy in this case. After all, has he or any other member been properly instructed in the use of the so-called blackjack, which in the hands of a skilled person certainly can be a deadly weapon.

The resident is an aged man and a wrong blow on the head could prove fatal.

How many police officers have been properly instructed in police work? Civil service does not make a police officer, although it does protect him in his job whether he is good, bad or indifferent. I do deplore the fact the aged man involved in this case suffered a blow serious enough to require hospitalization and medical care. As reported in the press, it smacks of hot head police tactics that are not used in modern police work.

Believes Him Justly Punished

To the Editor: I read of the financial aid that is being given to Gerald C. Wentzel by friends and fellow workers.

Instead of backing him, I feel he should be justly punished for seeking the company of another woman, when he is not only married but has a family.

Let him suffer for his wrong doing. I have no sympathy to offer. (Be assured, I am not alone in my feelings.)

Corn Only for Gander?

To the Editor: The corn that's good for the goose is also good for the gander. It seems to me, after reading your publication of the clubs' reply April 8, by Ed Rosenberg, that the corn is only good for the gander.

The hotels tend the beds, serve the meals, clean-up everything in first-class shape for the public's welfare. Then on Sunday they are forced to become church-goers, and must observe the Sabbath, while clubs go haywire till morning, bringing the remains to the hotel to be rocked to sleep by the keepers.

I can't see the squawk of unfair competition. Is law only good for the goose and not for the gander.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DELIA M., 77, has a problem that is more common in women of 45.

"Dr. Crane, she is insanely jealous of my Dad," her middle-aged son explained, "although Dad is 79 years of age and never has been interested in any other woman."

"She accuses any woman who may speak to him, and she makes his life perfectly miserable. We children wouldn't have put up with half the abuse he has meekly taken from Mother."

"If we try to show her that she is wrong, or if we try to defend Dad, she goes infuriated."

"I suppose her trouble is a mental kick brought about by fear of sexual inability, but it seems to me they are pretty old for such a complex to arise. What is the trouble with her, Dr. Crane?"

DELIA'S BEHAVIOR is more typical of women at the menopause, but I cite it today to show you that jealousy and sexual complexes may appear late in life.

Many of you readers with a scientific mind are keeping scrapbooks of these daily Case Records.

For your benefit, therefore, I include a variety of psychological cases just so you may have a complete file of the problems confronting mankind in our current age.

For the cases I present in this column are all real patients. Only the names are disguised. They represent what scientists call the "original data" from the laboratory of life on the North American continent today.

"But why do wives accuse their husbands of infidelity when there are no grounds whatever for their false charges?" you may ask.

Possibly because the sweetest music to the ears of a menopausal wife, or any other affection-started woman, is the ardent protestation of devotion from her husband.

But suppose he has grown indifferent or old, and has forgotten to pay her compliments, kiss her frequently, or tell her he loves her.

How can she then prod him into open declaration of his undying allegiance to her?

Well, whether they consciously figure it out this way or just subconsciously evolve such clever strategy, women all over the world employ Delia's system.

For when Delia accuses her complacent husband, he snaps out of his lethargy and tells her vehemently that she has been the only woman in his life. That he never looks at anybody else. So he becomes more romantic. And she gets on her ardent defensive arguments.

As a matter of fact Delia's accusations are a "come to her aged husband too, for he is flattered by his vanity for him to think she is so other women of being in love with him."

Don't be too sympathetic with the supposedly smart bird-band in such a situation, for in many cases he secretly enjoys his dilemma, or he wouldn't tolerate it year after year.

There are many other psychological factors involved in Delia's case, which space limitations prevent my discussing today.

WASHINGTON

Wallace Race Showing
Influence on Legislation

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, April 11 — Henry A. Wallace may never reach even the backyard of the White House, but his entry into the 1948 presidential campaign has forced Democratic and Republican conservatives on Capitol Hill to pass or consider a far more liberal and social-welfare batch of legislation than they planned. Harold E. Stassen's political stature may shake the pedestals of conservatism even further.

It is doubtful if Senator Robert A. Taft's measure for $300,000,000 worth of Federal aid to education would have swept through the Senate by a 58-22 vote if it had not been for this outside pressure from the Wallace left and the Stassen left-of-center. Many members of the upper chamber voted for it in violence to their philosophy on the relationship of the Federal government to the states.

MARGARINE: While it is doubtful whether the Taft proposals for a long-range health and housing program will be enacted at this session, the Wallace-Stassen impact has given them an unexpected boost.

Under a hurriedly revised legislative arrangement, they will probably be reported favorably by committees, but too late for action before the presidential election. But such procedure would almost assure passage in early 1949.

Forcing the bill for repeal of margarine taxes out of the butter-controlled Agriculture Committee, which required 218 signatures in the House, is attributed directly to Mr. Wallace's apparent appeal to consumer groups in the large cities. Many members signed the pro-margarine petition only because they had to counteract his demand for lower prices for millions of urban dwellers.

Although enactment at the current session is not certain, the leaders plan to go through the motions of considering an increase in the minimum wage scale, largely to offset the Wallace strength in industrial centers.

MOOD: The men on Capitol Hill who must seek reelection next November — the full House membership and one-third of the Senate — interpret signs of Wallace and Stassen strength to mean that the voters are in a mean, questioning and querulous mood, and that a fresh breeze is sweeping across the political countryside. Such a phenomenon endangers their seats, and they feel that they must bow to — or at least bend with — the wind.

Whereas Congress has dawdled along with consideration of routine problems, save for the Marshall Plan, the people have shown their concern for solution of such domestic questions as prices, wages, production, the future of agriculture etc. They want homes, food, medical care, education and a general improvement of their status at a cost they can afford.

SENTIMENT: Although supporting Washington's various efforts to stave off another war through foreign expenditures, and generally favoring a greater strengthening of the national defense establishment than Congress seems willing to provide, they also believe that more attention should be given to bettering their lot at home.

That is the meaning which politically minded strategists read into all recent evidence of the prevailing national sentiment. And both parties at Washington intend to recognize the danger by attempts to appease the Wallace leftists and the Stassen liberals.

BURDENS: Ironically, Mr. Wallace's friends at Moscow tend to defeat the liberalization movement which his domestic prouetting has inspired on Capitol Hill. Although he may not sense it, the Communist backers of his candidacy are preventing the realization of his professed dreams for greater medical, health, housing and social facilities.

Speaker Martin has indicated partiality toward the Senate-passed educational bill, but he questions whether the financial burdens imposed by Russian hostility will permit the required outlay of funds.

With a Marshall Plan bill of at least seventeen billions and a military budget that may run as high as thirty billions, he fears that the U. S. Treasury cannot finance an elaborate social welfare program.

DEAD: The threat of a World War III has had a definite effect on the movement for the return of war dead buried overseas.

When the government first announced its plans for bringing home the bodies of American fighters, it was estimated that the demand would run as high as seventy percent. This estimate was based on the number of requests received from parents and close relatives.

This figure proved to be erroneous for the reason that those eager for home burial were naturally the first to make known their wishes to the authorities. Few months ago, the number began to fall, and the estimate was revised downward to 50 percent.

The ratio continued to drop until talk of a conflict with Moscow became general here and elsewhere. Now, with the prospect that American cemeteries might become a battleground (many of them are located in strategic areas), next-of-kin have begun to notify burial officials here that they have changed their minds. They want the boys home.

JOBS UPON A TIME

Henry Agard Wallace, Iowa-born presidential candidate on a third party ticket, was editor of Wallace's farm magazine before he had political aspirations. He first served in national affairs as secretary of agriculture in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's cabinet from 1933 to 1940, then from 1941 to 1945 was vice president of the United States with Roosevelt. Wallace was secretary of commerce under President Truman until late in 1946, when he resigned under pressure. He is the author of a number of books on farming and world affairs, and his home is in Des Moines, Ia.

The ambassador of the United States to the Court of St. James (Great Britain), Lewis Douglas was born in the little Arizona town of Bisbee. At Amherst college the future ambassador studied history and played baseball. World War I claimed him from which he came back a first lieutenant, and suffering from the after effects of a gassing in the Argonne forest; also with a citation from Gen. John J. Pershing, and the Belgian Croix de Guerre. He tried teaching first, then after he married, the pair went back to Arizona. He ran for the state legislature and won. He next was a congressional election and was Franklin D. Roosevelt's director of the budget for 18 months from which post he resigned in 1934. President Truman appointed Douglas ambassador to Great Britain in the Spring of 1947.

BONNIE (MRS. BILL) BABST has returned from Florida without her final decree . . . Jim Farley Jr. is the reason why Claire McGuiness, of the Nob Hill, San Francisco set, is carrying a torch . . . After all the excitement about the hitting of the 75 percent British tax, more than twenty American films are idling in the customs vaults in England awaiting official Parliamentary recognition of the recent trade.

One of the nicer stories from Hollywood these days concerns Victor Mature's bedside attentions to his ailing bride . . . Broadway movie houses are mulling another price cut—this time including the high weekend tariffs . . . Sensational Kay Thompson's big romance is Andy Williams, one of the four brothers who work in her act. (And they ARE brothers, Brother Blackie!) . . . The James Masons are continuing their midwest tour despite an ear infection suffered by Mr. M.

FILM STUDIOS again are scanning their shelves for scripts suitable for Margaret Truman. Her friends say she still prefers to wait until after the '48 elections to make her decision. If her father doesn't return to the White House, she'll eagerly seek offers . . .

The black market rings in Germany are causing added complication for authorities. They're operated by youngsters from 10 to 16 years old . . .

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

A Fatal Week...
Business Change...

THROW-BACK — It was 73 years ago this week. The tall man with his strong, lined face sat at ease. The man who had said, "I shall do nothing with malice. What I deal with is too vast for malicious dealings" sagged only perceptibly with his tremendous weariness. It was his night off and he meant to make the most of it. The theatre was dark.

Suddenly, behind the bearded man, the curtains of the box parted—a slit of light, a springing figure and finally the blast of a pistol. Abe Lincoln slumped forward into the arms of his wife. It was April 14, 1865. In a few short hours the President was dead. Tears poured from the eyes of a bleeding nation. Across the still Potomac, in the gentle hills of Virginia the smoldering skeleton of a farmer's barn marked the end of a man named John Wilkes Booth—actor. Who was this man? Who were the others, for there were others! . . .

The Encyclopedia Americana has 15 short lines starting: "BOOTH, John Wilkes, American actor (son of Junius Brutus Booth); b. Harford County, Md., 1839; d. 1865." Junius Brutus Booth commanded nearly 50 lines in the Americana. Senior Booth was undoubtedly a fine actor, but in the final count, fame and infamy walked hand in hand to leave us wondering at the strange coincidence of the "Brutus" in his name . . .

WHAT OF the others? Eight all told were condemned as conspirators, for the plot was more than a crazed zealot acting impulsively. Secretary of State Seward had been stabbed as he lay sick abed. Plots against the other members of the Cabinet miscarried, but were later revealed. Four conspirators were caught and hanged including the widow named Mary Surratt. Four others were sentenced to prison.

When John Booth, son of Brutus, pulled the trigger he swung wide the gates which might have dammed a flood of black deeds. They blotched the record of reconstruction following the Civil War. Booth not only killed a man, he lashed the mortally wounded South to a torture rack with those bitter, borrowed words, "Sic semper tyrannis!"

OWNER — This morning a new owner takes over the Hanover Cafe, well patronized oasis on South Hanover street. He is Peter Fedick, a Pottstown neighbor from Mont Clare. Fedick purchased the business from Minnie Kinckiner, operator for many months. The building is owned by the Security Trust company. Fedick is a married man, father of two children, who plans to move to Pottstown soon. He starred in semi-pro football and baseball in Mont Clare. He was co-owner of the Victory Bar in Mont Clare, also operated the Mont Clare Sweet Shop. For 19 years he was employed at the New York Coil works in Mont Clare.

RIGHT — Cop insists he came upon celebrator who put a nickel in a parking meter, and insisted on shooting motorists away. He didn't have a car parked there, but he had a right to that space, he said. What to do was a problem. Suppose a man goes into a telephone booth, deposits a nickel, and then sits there without talking to anybody? He shouldn't be arrested, at least until his three or five minutes are up. He has bought the right to talk, just as some persons put a nickel into a juke box and have a blank record played so they don't have to listen to hill-billy songs while they're eating!

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

THE body uses certain substances—chiefly minerals and chemicals—in infinitesimal amounts. To those of us who are used to dealing in ounces and pounds, the term "speck" would best describe the quantities needed. Since these are so small, the average man or woman might reason that going without them altogether could do no great harm. Just the reverse is true.

You could, for instance, put the necessary daily ration of iodine on the head of a pin. But trying to do without it would result in all sorts of disorders.

Iodine is particularly needed as one of the ingredients of the thyroid gland to form the secretion which regulates the speed at which all chemical activities of the body are carried out.

In many parts of the world, food and water may be lacking in iodine. Such areas are known

Visiting Pastors To Speak at Meeting

The Rev. Forrest T. Nelson, pastor of the Assemblies of God Tabernacle, announced last night that the meeting of the Ministers Fellowship of the South Central section of the general council of Assemblies of God, will meet today in the Assemblies of God Tabernacle, 426 Chestnut street.

The afternoon meeting, which will begin at 2:30 o'clock, will feature the Rev. Peter Niccoli, pastor of the Glad Tidings Tabernacle in Shipensburg, as the guest speaker.

At the evening meeting, a special young people's rally will be conducted by the Rev. J. V. Ruth, of Allentown, and the guest speaker will be the Rev. Elbert Leiper, pastor of the York Gospel Tabernacle, York.

Special selections of vocal and instrumental music will be rendered.

Boy, 8, Perishes As Fire Wrecks Home

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 11 (AP)—An eight-year-old boy died today in a fire which destroyed three houses here and damaged two others. Fourteen persons were forced to flee in night garments.

The charred body of Charles Allen, 8, was found in the ruins of one home. The boy was asleep as were the other five members of the Lester Allen family when the fire broke out shortly after midnight. All escaped with the exception of Charles.

Flames quickly spread to four adjoining frame dwellings causing an estimated $15,000 damage. Fire Chief A. L. Loar said.

by representatives from the various churches throughout the section. The public is cordially invited to attend.

RED HILL

Shirley M. Reed, corr. Dale Miller, delivery. Phone Pennsburg 4673.

The Misses Myrlin and Ruth Elaine Freed were the leaders of the Luther League meeting in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday night. The topic for the evening was, "Proofs of the Resurrection." The meeting was of a dual character, with everything being arranged in pairs. A program of fellowship was arranged following the regular program.

Miss Emma George, of Philadelphia, arrived at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Brey, Main street. Mr. Brey, club manager and steward of the Red Hill fire company for 23 years, has been confined to his home because of illness for the past seven weeks. He will be admitted to Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, for observation.

A baby shower was held recently for Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Red Hill RD.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burkholder, Main street, spent a day in Pottstown.

Mr. and Mrs. William Doyle, Quakertown, had Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burkholder, Main street, as their guests. Mrs. Burkholder is a sister to Mr. Doyle.

Marian Rauch returned home after a visit with her mother, Mrs. William Rauch, Quakertown. She is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Leister.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Weber, Finland, visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burkholder.

The following persons attended the make-up demonstration of Miss Shirley Reed, Main street: Miss Eleanor Rothenberger, Miss Helen

Confirmands Feled At Reunion Service In Emmanuel Church

Mrs. Anna J. Lafferty, of 217 Beech street, last night was honored in the Emmanuel Lutheran church as the representative of the oldest existing confirmation class. Mrs. Lafferty was confirmed in 1878.

She was one of 38 persons presented with yellow roses at the Sunday night service, as the Rev. Luther A. Krouse, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran, held the annual reunion of confirmation classes.

Others honored last included Mrs. Marguerite Hatfield, 1883; Isaac Rhoads, 1884; Mrs. Jennie E. ### The Younger Generation Wouldn't Remember

But many years ago it surely was a sight to see Mother . . . hustle in her bustle.

These days, some folks are still "hustlin'" all over town to take care of their bills when they could pay by check and save time, trouble and gasoline.

It's a lot safer, too. Try it!

Proclamation FOR BOYS' WEEK

WHEREAS, the hope for peace in future years rests squarely on proper thinking of our youth and their ability to participate intelligently in the affairs of the world, especially those which pertain to the government of the peoples.

THEREFORE, I, William A. Griffith, Burgess of Pottstown, do hereby proclaim the week of April 12, 1948 as Boys' week and urge every sound-thinking person who shares the hope that the peoples of this world might abide in peace, understanding and tolerance to assist in any way possible in the successful sponsorship of this observance and to guide the thoughts of youth of the borough of Pottstown to wisdom and clear thinking.

WHEREFORE, I have set my hand and seal this tenth day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight.

Done in the borough of Pottstown.
WILLIAM A. GRIFFITH,
Burgess.

"My conscience wouldn't let me throw out even a drop of used fats when I know they're still needed so badly. Why, today's shortage of fats and oils is still very serious, our government says."

"I really got a kick out of seeing how much extra fat I can save . . . by melting down trimmings, skimming gravies, and scraping pans. I re-use it, certainly. But there's always something left to make saving worth while!"

"Have you ever stopped to think that used fats are the only kitchen waste that can be turned into cash? That's a good point to remember in these days of higher food costs."

Former Official To Address Rotary At Meeting Tonight

Paul Kinsey, research worker for Metropolitan Edison company and former past president of Boyertown Rotary club, will address local Rotarians tonight on "The Heart Pump" in Boyer Towne inn at 8:30 o'clock.

Kinsey was president of the local civic group during 1933-34. In 1936 he moved to Gettysburg for reassignment with Metropolitan Edison company.

Murrell D. McKinsty, manager of the Boyertown office of the utilities company, will serve as chairman of tonight's meeting.

Fifteen Boyertown Rotarians and their wives will attend the annual convention of the 179th district, Rotary International, next Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in Atlantic City.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Body, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Body, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Hafer, Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Hafer, Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Effinger L. Erb, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Knoke, Mr. and Mrs. Grant P. Bechtel, Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Kline, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. King, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon P. Borneman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tibbets, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Frey, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Gottshall and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Smith.

HENRY BODY, incoming president of the Boyertown club, and Ralph Body, retiring president, were named by the club to serve as delegates and electors at the convention, sessions of which will be held in Chalfonte-Haddon hall. Alternates are B. Frank Hafer and Paul R. Hafer.

Ralph Body was a member of the committee which nominated Joe Ahey, a past president of Rotary club of Reading, for office of district governor. He is unopposed. Dr. Charles S. Swope, president of State Teachers college, West Chester, is retiring district governor.

Henry Body and Ernest Smith, secretary, will attend a breakfast for incoming presidents and secretaries at 7:30 a. m. Monday at which time the district governor will play host.

THE CLUB DECIDED to give a Rotary cup for a track event at the Venzke relays to be held on Wednesday, May 5.

Bechtel, who will attend the Atlantic City convention, was named captain of the YMCA maintenance campaign team of Rotary in Boyertown at the meeting. Daniel B. Boyer Jr., is lieutenant, assisted by Frey, Knoke, Smith, Campbell, Gordon Rose, Past President Clarence A. Muthard and Henry K. Grim.

DEATHS - FUNERALS

MARGARET (REDDEN) EDGE, 72, 25 WEST SIXTH STREET, BOYERTOWN, wife of Harlan M. Edge, died at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm G. Koons, yesterday.

A daughter of the late Patrick and Hanna (Dougherty) Redden, she resided at Barto RD before moving to Boyertown. She was a member of St. Columbkil's Catholic church, Boyertown.

She is survived by her husband and the following children: Ellen, wife of Raymond Miller, of Boyertown; Harlan O., of Barto; and Jeannetta, wife of Malcolm G. Koons, at whose home she died; ten grandchildren; and one sister, Mary Redden, of Edinboro, Penna.

Services will be held Wednesday. High mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a. m. by the Rev. B. H. Creamers, rector, in the Church of the Most Blessed Sacrament, Bally. Interment will be made in the adjoining cemetery.

ELLEN M. (REPERT) HAUSMAN, 41, wife of Elmer J. Hausman, of BOYERTOWN RD 1, NEAR GABLESVILLE, died yesterday in Reading hospital a few hours after being admitted.

A native of Washington township, she was a daughter of the late George M. and Mary Ann R. (Moyer) Reppert, and was a member of St. Joseph's Hill (Lutheran) church.

Besides the husband, there survive the following brothers and sisters: John RD 2, Mabel, wife of Ralph Dotterer, Boyertown RD 1; Edna, wife of William Christman, Oley; Ernest, Boyertown RD 2; George Jr., Boyertown RD 2; Floyd, Boyertown RD 2, and Pearl, of Boyertown RD 1.

Services will be held from a funeral home at 124 West Philadelphia avenue, Boyertown, Thursday at 1:30 p. m., with further services to be held in St. Joseph's Hill Lutheran church, the Rev. Luther Lee Lengel officiating. Interment will be made in Hill church cemetery.

Funeral services for M. RAYMOND WERT, husband of Minnie S. (Gross) Wert, of NEW BERLINVILLE, were held the past Saturday at 1:30 p. m. from a funeral home at 124 West Philadelphia avenue, Boyertown.

Further services were conducted in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, Boyertown, where the Rev. David F. Longacre, pastor, officiated. Interment was made in Mt. Zion cemetery, Pottstown. Bearers were three brothers: Charles, Parker and Leonard Wert, and three nephews: James Egolf, Douglas Van Horn and William Fisher.

Funeral services for LAURA E. ROHRBACH, 30 SOUTH JEFFERSON STREET, BOYERTOWN, were held yesterday at 1:45 p. m. from a Warwick street funeral home.

Further services were held in Huff's church at 2:30 p. m. the Rev. Wilson H. Hartzell, of Topton, officiating. Interment was made in Huff's church cemetery.

Bearers were Clayton Rohrbach, Norman Hill, William N. Erb, Leon Gottshall, Wayne Weller and Amos Knoke.

Special Study Planned By Church Group
Members and guests of the Women's Guild of Church of the Good Shepherd, Evangelical and Reformed, will study the volume, "Committed Unto Us," a study in evangelism, Wednesday afternoon and night.

A part of the program will be a fellowship meal, at which time the same as that sent to Europe by the congregation's world service commission, will be the main dish.

The afternoon session is scheduled for 2 p. m. The Rev. Harper L. Schneek, pastor, and several women of the guild will be in charge. Both afternoon and night meetings will open with a worship service. Members of the Churchmen's Brotherhood have been invited to the night meeting.

Colonel Diener Named Head of Reserve Unit

The appointment of Col. William S. Diener, Boyertown RD 2, as commanding officer of the 236th Organized Reserve Composite group was made recently in Reading by Maj. Karl E. Osenlund, senior unit instructor of the local organized reserve corps headquarters at 615 Penn street.

Diener, who resides at Orchard Acres, Greshville, is a veteran of both world wars. He was one of three colonels who addressed members of the 236th group and the 805th H. S. center at a reserve meeting in Reading the past Friday night.

Freezer Method of Preserving Foods Termed Top Kitchen Aid, Money Saver

Preserving foods by the International Harvester Freezer method is far easier than by other methods, it is stated at the firm of Clarence Wilson & Sons, Kimberton, where they are sold and on display.

It cuts tedious drudgery in a steaming hot kitchen for one thing, it is maintained.

You save money, too, because you freeze food that otherwise might be wasted. You buy fresh foods at lowest prices and store them. The International Harvester freezer pays for itself.

In International Harvester's thoroughly equipped, modern research kitchen, trained home economists, specialists in frozen foods, actively assisted in perfecting the design of the International Harvester Freezer. Their recommendations were based on practical freezing tests. The result is a freezer designed for you—a freezer that will quickly and easily fit into your housekeeping routine, that brings new economy, new convenience and new satisfaction from safer, surer frozen foods.

The International Harvester Freezer is a product of 115 years of engineering and manufacturing skill—longest, most distinguished background in the refrigeration industry—and more than a decade of outstanding leadership in specialized refrigeration. All this skill is at your service in the new Freezer, plus the warranty of quality that the very name, International Harvester, means.

Better drop in at the firm of Clarence Wilson & Sons, farm machinery dealers at Kimberton for many years, and let them show you more of the advantages of owning one of these great International Harvester freezers. You'll rejoice the day you own one!

Seasonal Servicing Adds More Power To the Family Car

You can wake-up Winter-sleepy power in your car with Mobil-Care, Mr. Car Owner.

It helps make your engine peppy, sweet-running — radiator clean, safe — gears quiet, easy-shifting — chassis, tires, battery all O. K. Summerproof your car now at your Mobil dealer's station.

Get Mobilization for chassis. All chassis friction points are protected with correct Summer Mobil-greases — according to chart of your make and model car.

Enjoy easy shifting. Have your Mobilgas dealer protect transmission, differential with clean, Mobilube Summer gear oil.

Change to Mobiloil. Ask your friendly Mobilgas dealer to drain out dirty Winter-worn oil — protect engine parts against Summer wear with the world's largest-selling motor oil.

Condition radiator. Have cooling system cleaned with Mobil Radiator Flush — add Mobil Hydrotone to condition water — helps prevent corrosion.

And check your tires and battery.

Gaugler's Service station, King and Manatawny streets in Pottstown, offers Mobil products and Mobil service that will spell longer life for your car and better performance.

Lubrication of Car Reduces Expenses

Mr. Car Owner, now that Spring is officially here you won't want to miss a thorough check-up on that automobile of yours.

That means new grease in the transmission, new hypoid, a complete new warm-weather lubricant job, new oil in the crankcase which should be thoroughly drained and flushed first, and attention to the radiator.

Your cooling system is doubly important in warm weather. Now—or within the next two weeks—it should be drained of anti-freeze, flushed and cleaned with a good compound, and new pure water put in. See that hose connections are tight and replaced where worn.

Your service station man is ready for you and your car deserves this attention if you are interested in better car performance plus car preservation.

—And remember, attention like this to your car now means still better driving fun and less costly garage bills.

Lincoln-Grimm Nuptials Take Place In Catholic Church

Mrs. Marie Lincoln, daughter of Mrs. Mary Ruf, 229 Yost avenue, Spring City, and Francis Grimm, 1151 Industrial avenue, Pottstown, were united in marriage at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic church, Spring City, by the Rev. Joseph J. Conway, rector.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Linwood Setzler, Spring City. Organ music was played by Miss Wanda Kabatt, Phoenixville.

The bride had as her attendants Mrs. Robert Bell, Pottstown, sister of the bridegroom, matron of honor, and two bridesmaids, Mrs. William Howe, cousin of the bride, and Miss Helen Hippie, both of Spring City. Linda Lewis, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Peter Grimm, Pottstown, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Vincent Grimm Jr. and Raymond Grimm, Pottstown.

A RECEPTION followed at Tall Cedars temple for 100 guests. The couple left yesterday on a wedding trip to Washington, D.C., and points in Virginia, to be gone a week. They will live in an apartment at the Yost avenue address.

The bride is employed as a bookkeeper at Valley Forge General hospital. Mr. Grimm is employed at Firestone Tire and Rubber company, Pottstown.

At St. Louis, Mo. pupils of the Riverview Gardens High school picket the school on foot and by car. They are protesting the school board's failure to renew the contract of the school principal, Robert J. Genins. Refusing to attend their classes, the students paraded around the school grounds with placards urging his return.

Truck Damaged At Parking Space; Loss Set at $100

Police were called to investigate extensive damages to a truck owned by Arthur Clemens, Royersford, which was parked in the area between Main and Summer streets, south of Third avenue, Saturday morning.

The test will come in the House of Commons on a capital punishment abolition bill which reaches the floor Wednesday with strong bipartisan support.

The measure would seal the gallows' traps for a five-year experimental period to determine whether the threat of death has a noticeable effect upon the number of crimes of violence.

Several amendments have been suggested, among them:

A law requiring murderers to pay compensation to dependents of their victims if they escape the death penalty.

Clemens, who lives at the home of William H. Long, 243 Main street, said the machine was not damaged at 7:30 a. m., when he went out to look at it, but when he returned at noon it was practically ruined.

Chief of Police Bryson Turner was notified and investigated, seeking to learn the identity of the ones who caused the damage, estimated at more than $100.

During the investigation it was learned a chicken house nearby also had been damaged, and several windows at the rear of Royersford Flag factory had been broken.

Deaf Mutes Fined For Too Much Noise

NEW YORK, April 11 (P)—Ten deaf mutes accused of "loud and boisterous conduct" while playing cards" each paid a dollar fine yesterday over the protests of a reluctant Brooklyn judge.

After they insisted on pleading guilty to making a racket while playing blackjack, Magistrate Francis X. Giaccone wrote them a note asking: "How could you make any noise?"

One of the prisoners demonstrated by banging and juggling a courtroom table.

Reluctantly the magistrate fined them a dollar apiece. Then, with a puzzled expression, he asked the courtroom at large:

"Who am I to insist they do not have equal rights with other card players who draw the attention of the police? But for the life of me I cannot see if they are deaf how they can hear any noise they say they made."

10,000 Chinese Parade In Protest to Reds

PEIPING, April 11 (P)—A disorderly parade of about 10,000 persons demonstrated today against university student strikes and Communists.

If not officially inspired, the parade had at least tacit approval of the authorities. It was made up mostly of laborers and shopkeepers, with a sprinkling of "anti-strike" students.

As they passed National Peiping university, the marchers smashed windows of the main building with stones. Some broke in and wrecked furniture.

Students alleged that seven of their number were abducted, but six of them later returned and reported they had been beaten and forced to march in the parade.

This is excellent progress, but Pottstown must be kept ahead.

Pottstown's progress didn't just happen. Pottstown's future is not assured because of what we now have.

Cities do not just forge ahead. It takes teamwork; an intelligent program for action. It takes organization. That's where the Chamber of Commerce helps—it gets facts. It stimulates action. It's a constructive force to improve things.

The Pottstown Chamber of Commerce encourages industrial development; promotes retail activities; engages in many civic activities—the Community Chest, fire prevention, clean-up, etc.

New Fog Nozzle
Used Successfully,
Fire Chief Reports

Robert Roth, chief of the Good Will Fire company, reported that his company's new collar fog nozzle was used for the first time fighting the $18,000 fire in the Levitz Furniture company warehouse blaze, at Third and Main streets, the past Tuesday afternoon.

After the customary solid stream line appeared sloping and penetrating the fire, Roth reported, the fog nozzle was attached and "within three minutes this nozzle brought the fire under control."

Roth also said that the company answered 15 fire calls during March, a total of 27 for 1948, and that the ambulance moved 181 patients during the past month.

THE 52 MEMBERS at yesterday's meeting accepted an invitation to be the guests of the Hampden Veterans Volunteer Firemen's association, Reading, at the State Firemen's convention to be held in that city in October.

Donald Davis, head of the Goodies' fire police, reported three violations by motorists at scenes of fires, and said that legal action had been taken.

Davis also announced that the annual banquet of the Montgomery county Fire Police would be held Saturday night in Pottstown.

Four members were elected to the company and four applications for membership were received.

President Leslie D. Rhoads was in charge of yesterday's meeting.

vehicle and the left front fender of Singer's car were damaged.

Motor Patrolman Thomas A. Lawler investigated.

NO ONE WAS injured in a two-car collision at High and Hanover streets at 11 p. m. Saturday.

The drivers were Rae M. Cressy, of Pottstown RD 1, and Charles R. Erb, of 941 Feist avenue.

The Cressy car was halted at the intersection while the driver was waiting to buy a newspaper. Erb's car passed it and the front bumper of the second car caught the right front fender of the first.

Patrolman Joseph Thees investigated the accident.

Thomas Attilio, Royersford, was treated at Memorial hospital last night for a minor cut on the bridge of the nose caused when his glasses broke in a collision at High and Keim streets.

The front of Attilio's car collided with the rear of a sedan driven by Donald Allen, 23 Winding road, as Allen began a left hand turn onto Keim street. Both cars had been going east on High street.

After treatment Attilio was discharged.

ready have halted passenger-carrying military trains to and from Berlin on the grounds recently imposed Soviet inspection demands would violate their sovereignty.

They have moved to curtail aircraft flights by proposing a ban on commercial airlines, night flying and instrument flying between Berlin and the western zones.

This followed the past Monday's crash between a Soviet fighter plane and a British transport over Berlin that killed 15 persons, including the Soviet pilot.

COLOMBIAN REVOLT —

Milton Bracker of the New York Times who flew from Bogota to Balboa, C. Z., with a planeload of evacuees.

In announcing the arrest of two Russian agents, the Colombian government radio said several persons who took part in the seizure of a national radio station had been taken into custody. The revolution had been proclaimed from the station.

During the weekend revolt, all Inter-American conference records and equipment were destroyed in the burning that left downtown Bogota a shambles.

A COALITION government headed by President Ospina Perez took office today and immediately declared a state of siege. A few hours later it placed the entire country under martial law, according to pooled dispatches of correspondents cleared through the State department here.

Conference delegates held a meeting to try to decide what to do about the Inter-American session. Bogota apparently was ruled out as a site for any further meeting.

Some delegates discussed adjourning the conference to Havana or Panama. Meanwhile foreign delegations sought safe-conduct guarantees from President Ospina to evacuate their representatives from the 8000-foot high capital.

Unnumbered churches were reported sacked and burned. Priests moved about the city administering the last rites.

Ambassador Willard L. Beaulac cabled the State department: "All members, American delegation, press group, O. K. advise papers and agencies for further news."

REPORTS FROM consuls in other Colombian cities, received by the State department, pieced out a picture of arson, looting and other violence.

The consuls' reports included: Medellin: All quiet today after "unrestrained looting and burning" Friday night and Saturday. Catholic university fired by rioters, but flames extinguished.

Improvements Made
To Community Camp

The Pottstown Community camp, Earlville, a project of the Spicer Employees Aid association, will be in "A-1 shape" by July 3 when it opens for local children, John A. Shaner, president, told an association meeting yesterday.

Shaner and a group of about 35 members have been visiting the camp every Saturday for the past few weeks painting, repairing and cutting weeds around the 22 cabins, recreation hall, store and office of the big camp.

The group will continue the weekly visits every Saturday until opening day, he added.

Special projects include repairing the basketball court and the "wimmin' hole" in the Man-at-war creek which flows through the site.

Following the six weeks season for Pottstown youngsters, the camp will be thrown open to Spicer workers' families.

Although Shaner also is chairman of the camp committee, Samuel Kellar, chairman of the property committee, is in charge of work at the camp.

The association meets once every three months. About 35 were present yesterday in CIO hall, Singer building.

Soldiers Arrested
In Theft of Auto

Three soldiers working at the motor-vehicle pool of Valley Forge General hospital were arrested Saturday on charges of stealing a Birch-runville man's car.

Earl H. Zollers, the owner, said they took it as it was parked by the Kimberton hotel. The trio was arrested by military police as they tried to enter the hospital's gate early Saturday.

They were placed in Chester county prison, in default of $500 bail, to await a further hearing today before Justice of the Peace George Ellwanger, Phoenixville. Devon State police will prosecute.

They are all privates first class: Elza Murphy, 33, of St. Johnsville, N. Y.; John T. Gunn, 31, Fort Huron, Mich.; and Vincent J. Rondono, Philadelphia.

while he was doing a job of carpentry work in the building. When he came out at 8 p. m. the truck was gone.

Saturday morning Guldin received a tip from a Cedarville farmer that the truck was wobbling around the township, and he caught up with Helmle on the Brethren church road as the man was headed south.

With Helmle was a pint bottle of whiskey, mostly empty, and a half-consumed half-gallon bottle of wine.

THE LINFIELD man told Guldin he was headed toward his home and that he had been driving off and on, around Pottstown, Phoenixville and points in between all night.

He admitted stealing the truck, and said that he drove a friend home with the vehicle. Helmle could not remember his companion's name, however.

Guldin took Helmle before Dr. Harry K. Marcy Jr., Pottstown police physician, who pronounced him under the influence of alcohol and unfit to drive.

Helmle told Guldin that he worked for a "Linfield Sanitary Foundry company." Such a firm is not listed in any directory, however.

Ralph H. Spare Jr., chamber secretary, said membership drives were necessary occasionally because of the fluctuating membership of the organization.

Among past achievements the chamber lists industrial development and resulting additional jobs, improvement of High street, shade tree planting, efforts to secure a trained borough manager, clean-up and fire prevention campaigns, establishment of a recreation commission, organization of the Community Chest and improved street lighting.

THE GOVERNMENT RADIO reporting on possibilities of continuing the conference here, said delegates Brambila from Argentina, and Torres Bodet from Mexico have seconded the opinion that "the conference must not be halted by a premeditated attempt to break it up."

The radio broadcast continued that delegates are resolved that upon restoration of peace and security the conference must continue as soon as possible.

union leader said, "the miners won't go back until this welfare issue is settled."

The walkout began March 15. In addition to Lewis' 400,000 soft coal diggers, 32,000 of the 60,000 Pennsylvania hard coal miners have joined in the strike.

Also, about 140,000 other workers in railroad, steel and allied jobs have been laid off because of the lack of coal.

More mass lay-offs are expected if the strike continues. The government has scheduled a second 25 percent cut in service of coal-burning railroads next Thursday at midnight, unless the flow of coal from the mines is restored.

The early morning meeting of the three trustees of the welfare fund tomorrow is counted on to produce at least "progress." Bridges and Lewis told a news conference at the end of today's talks.

Auto Workers, Plant
May Discuss Wages

The contract between Local 644, United Auto Workers (UAW), and the Spicer Manufacturing company may be opened for wage negotiations following present negotiations between the "Big Three" auto companies and the UAW.

John A. Shaner, secretary of the local, said Chrysler, Ford and General Motors were negotiating with the union now and if wage hikes are granted the Pottstown local will string along in asking for the same amount.

The present contract, Shaner said, holds until January, 1949, but contains a wage reopening clause. Prior to any local negotiations, however, Local 644 will file a 60-day strike notice, he said.

Shaner made the announcement after local meeting of 300 members yesterday afternoon in CIO hall, Singer building during which five new members were inducted. Harper R. Diener, president, was in charge.

WILL YOU INVEST $10 IN POTTSTOWN'S FUTURE PROGRESS?

Years ago, when our Town Fathers proposed our beautiful main thoroughfare, High Street, with its majestic breadth, length and direct lines, many townsmen strongly opposed their plan and declared that the rambling highway was wholly adequate . . . Others admitted the need of improvement but contended that any street wider than 24 feet was unnecessary and extravagant! Some maintained that the plan was simply political caprice to add to the woes of "overburdened taxpayers." But High Street was eventually laid and now we use it to maximum capacity many times during a normal day!

AND SO IT IS WITH OUR MUNICIPAL AIRPORT PROJECT
Which Is as Vitally Important to Our Welfare, as High Street Was Several Generations Ago!

Last Summer, we undertook this civic task at the behest of Federal and State authorities, who pointed out the tremendous advantages to be secured for our entire community through Air Mail Express and Passenger facilities! Seventy-five cents was made available for every quarter dollar raised by voluntary subscription! Many Men of Vision Have Supported It Liberally!

ONLY $5,000 MORE WILL GIVE POTTSTOWN A $100,000 AIRPORT!

This amount must be raised within FOUR DAYS, or we are gambling with the possibility of losing $60,000 in actual allocations to another community!

WE NEED YOUR HELP URGENTLY AND IMMEDIATELY!

Certainly, a Ten Dollar Bill Isn't Too Much to Contribute to Our Potentially Great Future! Mail or Tender Your Fair Share in Person Today to Mr. Henry A. Bell, President of the National Iron Bank! Receipt Will Be Gratefully Acknowledged!

Midwest Democrats Support Truman For '48 Re-election

DES MOINES, April 11 (AP)—Directors of the 13-State Democratic conference today gave President Truman their wholehearted support and urged their Southern colleagues to "unite behind our platform and candidates."

One of seven resolutions adopted by the 17 party leaders attending the conference from eight states said:

"We strongly urge that our Southern associates in the party resolve to send their delegates to the national convention and join in writing a platform stating our party principles and select a nominee to lead our party to victory."

"We ask that they now pledge themselves as we hereby pledge ourselves to accept the result and unite behind our platform and candidates for the good of our country and party."

THE MIDWEST DEMOCRATS voted to dispatch that resolution to a Southern Democratic conference at Atlanta, Ga., tomorrow and Tuesday. The party's Southern leadership has been objecting to nomination of President Truman, particularly because of his civil liberties pronouncements.

In another resolution the midwest Democrats said "civil liberties in the American tradition are under challenge all over the globe. Our President has not been afraid to preserve and strengthen them at home or abroad, regardless of the so-called political consequences."

That resolution ended by saying: "We are wholeheartedly behind the President and we believe that for the good of the nation he must be elected President in November along with a Democratic Congress which will put into effect our party's sound program to preserve our economic good health at home and keep us on the road to lasting peace of the world."

A third resolution urged the delegations from the midwest states to "resolve all differences within the conference and vote as a bloc at the Democratic national convention."

CONTAINED IN A fourth resolution was a recommendation to the administration that the next secretary of agriculture be a midwest man who is well informed on agricultural problems.

Represented among the midwest conference directors were national committeemen, national committeewomen, state chairmen and others from Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa. Not represented were Colorado, Missouri, Montana, Wyoming and Oklahoma.

In reports from each state, the board members expressed belief that their states either would poll larger Democratic victories this year than they did in 1944 or that they had good chances of winning.

Stephen Harrington of St. Paul, Minn., said that as an ex-Southerner he had just returned from the South, and he declared:

"Believe you me, the Southern Democrats still are for Truman."

James C. Quigley of Valentine, Neb., chairman of the conference, asserted that "after the Republicans get THE man, legions of them will turn to the Democratic side."

Long-Range Housing Bill to Come Before Senate This Week; Stiff Battle Predicted

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The freshly dusted and hotly contested Taft-Elliender-Wagner long-range housing bill is due to come off a Senate shelf for debate this week.

Senator Tobey (R-NH) told a reporter today that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has promised him the bill will be called up Thursday or Friday unless something unforeseen intervenes.

Taft is a co-sponsor of the bill. He also is chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee which charts the order in which legislation goes before the Senate.

Tobey is chairman of the Senate banking committee. The past week it dug through a year's cobwebs to approve a batch of amendments to the housing measures, which is designed to encourage construction of 15,000,000 new homes during the next 10 years.

THE COMMITTEE approved the original T-E-W bill on April 24, 1947. Backers have been trying ever since to get it up for debate. Their efforts have been on the cautious side because of doubt as to what the bill's fate would be in the House.

The Senate passed a similar housing measure in 1946. It found its way to a deep grave in the House banking committee mainly because of opposition there to a section providing for public housing.

Essentially the same provision is in the new bill and this time there is a battle royal over it brewing in the Senate.

The section authorizes construction, over five years, of 500,000 government owned and operated public housing units. The rest of the housing program contemplated in the measure would be handled by private industry.

Lead by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), foes of public housing plan to offer an amendment to strike that section from the bill. They predict they will be successful.

BUT TOBEY said he is confident the Senate will go for public housing as it did two years ago, although "it will be close."

As for private industry construction the bill contains incentives intended to spur the building of homes to rent. For example investors in rental dwellings would be guaranteed an annual profit.

The bill also provides for clearance of city slums through a program of Federal loans.

Taft has estimated the cost of the overall T-E-W program at about $150,000,000 a year.

In a new report on the revised housing bill, the banking committee says:

"While the volume of housing construction has increased sharply during the past two years, the completions continue to lag behind the increase in the number of families, and it is well known that the prices or rents of these new homes have been beyond the means of far too large a proportion of the population."

"Decisive action to place (the T-E-W Program) into operation should not longer be delayed."

Negro, Born in Slavery, Dies at 112 in Hospital

ELGIN, Ill., April 11 (AP)—Robert Wilson, oldest patient of the Elgin State hospital, died today. Confederate army records established his age as 112.

Wilson, a Negro, was born in slavery Jan. 12, 1836 at Richmond, Va., hospital files indicate. He was credited with service in the Confederate army during the Civil war.

Known in the institution as Uncle Bob, he practiced Evangelism before entering seven years ago.

Represented among the midwest conference directors were national committeemen, national committeewomen, state chairmen and others from Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa. Not represented were Colorado, Missouri, Montana, Wyoming and Oklahoma.

In reports from each state, the board members expressed belief that their states either would poll larger Democratic victories this year than they did in 1944 or that they had good chances of winning.

Stephen Harrington of St. Paul, Minn., said that as an ex-Southerner he had just returned from the South, and he declared:

"Believe you me, the Southern Democrats still are for Truman."

James C. Quigley of Valentine, Neb., chairman of the conference, asserted that "after the Republicans get THE man, legions of them will turn to the Democratic side."

MORE HOMES, MORE INDUSTRIES than ever in this busy area

... and more electricity for them will be provided here

BARBADOS ISLAND STATION, near Norristown, where additional capacity of 122,000 kilowatts is being installed. This is one of many items in Philadelphia Electric's $225,000,000 expansion program.

MORE homes for comfortable living, more industries to support them. Such are the sinews of any thriving community.

Year after year, the five-county area that comprises metropolitan Philadelphia has been growing by leaps and bounds in both homes and industries.

All of which means that the demand for electricity keeps soaring to new peaks.

But never fear! There will be plenty of electricity to turn the wheels of industry and make home-life brighter. Your neighbors who operate Philadelphia Electric have seen to that.

With slide-rule accuracy, our Advance Planning Division can measure the demand for electricity years in advance. They chart not only what will be needed, but where it will be needed and perfect the plans to meet the demand.

Right now Philadelphia Electric is fully launched on a 6-year $225,000,000 expansion program to satisfy the needs of this five-county area with plenty to spare.

Keeping ahead of the job in this way explains why every home and industry that asks for electric service gets it promptly. Each Philadelphia Electric employee takes personal pride in helping to see that this record continues.

WEDDINGS

Harry Ellis, Leatrice Geschwind Are Wed In St. Peter's Lutheran Church Ceremony

Before an altar beautifully banked with white snapdragons, white carnations, mixed flowers and palms, Miss Leatrice Geschwind became the bride Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock of Mr. Harry Edward Ellis in St. Peter's Lutheran church, Stowe.

Miss Geschwind is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rayel E. Geschwind, 1040 South street, while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Ellis, 1047 Queen street.

In the presence of a large number of friends and relatives, the Rev. Kenneth R. Anderson, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, and Dr. Gustave W. Weber, director of religious studies at The Hill, officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Mrs. Howard Kerper presided at the console of the organ, while Miss June Edwards gave vocal music prior to and during the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding gown a colonial designed white satin trimmed with lace. The fitted bodice featured a yoke of marquisette net and a full skirt of satin edged in lace at the hips. The long sleeves tapered to a point over each wrist. Attached to the bodice was a long full skirt which ended in a medium-length court train. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown decorated with seed pearls. She carried a white Testament with white orchid attached, a gift of the bridegroom. At her throat she wore a single strand of pearls.

Miss Nelda Jean Geschwind served her sister as maid of honor, appearing in a light blue gown of broadened taffeta bodice and net skirt. The tightly-fitting bodice buttoned up the back and featured a little rounded collar. She wore broadened mits and headpiece of artificial flowers to match the gown. She carried an old-fashioned shower bouquet of mixed flowers with matching satin streamers.

MRS. ELEANOR MERKEL, appeared as matron of honor in a gown of light blue tulle over taffeta, fashioned on period lines. The very full skirt was attached to a basque.

Miss Geschwind was attired in a dress of grey silk edged in black lace and black accessories. The mother of the bridegroom chose a dress of black silk crepe with black accessories and white gloves. Both wore an orchid corsage.

A supper was served in library hall following the wedding, after which the couple left on a motor trip to Virginia for a week. For traveling the bride chose a suit of aqua wool with brown accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

Nancy Strausbaugh Becomes Spring Bride At Impressive Double Ring Church Rites

Looking charmingly radiant in a white satin gown of old fashioned lines, Miss Nancy Strausbaugh approached the attractively-trimmed altar on the arm of her father, Mr. Emory B. Strausbaugh, to meet her bridegroom, Mr. Robert McDevitt, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

Palms, white snapdragons and white carnations graced the altar before which the wedding party took their places with the Rev. Horace Olewiler performing the double ring ceremony, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

Miss Strausbaugh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory B. Strausbaugh, 801 Queen street, while Mr. McDevitt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McDevitt, 1137 Queen street.

BRIDAL MUSIC for the wedding was presented by Mr. Robert Kickett, organist and Miss Muriel Prutzman, soloist.

The old-fashioned gown which the bride chose was designed with high illusion neckline and the off the shoulder effect. The long full sleeves came to a point over each wrist. The very full and long skirt was brought up on either side to reveal dainty ruffles underneath, and in the back had an inserted hoop to swing the full circular train in a graceful swirl. Her fingertip veil of French illusion net edged with Edgewood lace fell from a tiny duch cap embroidered with seed pearls. For her flowers, Miss Strausbaugh carried an old-fashioned spray bouquet of gardenias with detachable orchid center to which was attached a shower of lily of the Valley's entwined in satin streamers.

Serving as maid of honor, Miss Virginia I. Kerper, chose a gown of aqua faille, the tight fitting bodice buttoning up the front with tiny self covered buttons to a little rounded Peter Pan collar. To it was attached a very full skirt featuring a side drape. With the capped sleeves, she wore matching mits.

FOR HER FLOWERS she carried a spray bouquet of yellow buttered carnations and pink daisies tied with gold and aqua ribbon. Her headpiece was a crown of pink daisies.

Mrs. Raymond Westcott and Miss Margaret Switzer served as bridesmaids in costumes of pink faille of identical design to the maid of honor's. Their flowers were a spray bouquet of yellow butterfly carnations and white daisies tied with pink and gold ribbon while white daisies fashioned the crown for their hair.

Mr. Richard McDevitt served his brother as best man while the duties of ushers were performed by Mr. Robert Fox and Mr. James McDevitt.

The bride's mother chose a dress of aqua crepe with navy accessories while Mrs. McDevitt chose a navy crepe with navy accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of orchids.

FOLLOWING THE wedding a reception was held at the library hall after which the couple left for a honeymoon in the Pocono mountains. For traveling the bride chose a suit of black faille, plaid taffeta bonnet and Hunter's pink top.

Upon their return they will be at home to their friends in their newly-furnished apartment, 313 South Hanover street, South Pottstown.

Guests were present for the wedding from Hanover, Reading, Camden, N. J., Coatesville, Phoenixville and South Pottstown.

Mrs. McDevitt was graduated from Pottstown high school, class of 1944 and is employed in the office of the Bell Telephone company. The bridegroom was graduated from Pottstown High school class of 1943 and is employed by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

Woman's Club to Hear Esther Corlitz Speak

Mrs. Esther Corlitz, of Philadelphia, will speak on the topic, "Fashions on a Budget" tomorrow night when the Woman's club will meet in Library hall at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Corlitz is one of the most popular speakers of a well-known speakers bureau, and this particular talk is the one in most demand. She gives in detail a variety of suggestions on how to buy clothes wisely, and to plan the proper accessories that women may be becomingly dressed on a budget.

Miss Florence A. Erb, president, will preside at the business meeting at which officers for the coming season will be elected. Mrs. Lloyd F. Koehler will be the program leader.

Miss Muriel Prutzman, soprano, accompanied by Miss Florence A. Erb, will present vocal numbers.

Miss Eva Slonaker, C. L. Huff, Miss Rotha Land, Miss Alma Klink, Mrs. Irma Miller, Mrs. W. Mark Henricks, Miss Josephine Boyer, Miss Marge Groff, Mrs. Wentzel, Mrs. Karl Johnson, Miss Dorothy Fryer, Miss Alice Shaner, Miss Marguerite Fine, Miss Ann Reigner, Mr. Clarence Koons, Miss Edna Sears, Miss Pearl Bowman and Mr. Samuel Barnett.

A delicious lemon sauce is made by combining two tablespoons of cornstarch with one-half cup of water; one-half cup syrup is then blended in and the mixture cooked over a low flame until it starts to boil. It should be boiled for five minutes and then a few grains of salt, the juice of one lemon and a tablespoon of butter or margarine should be added.

Teen-Timer Nights Inaugurated by AOH In Catholic School

Believing that the younger generation should have fun and happy hours, but should have them where they are apart from the dangers of running the street and traveling with bad crowds, members of the Ancient Order of the Hibernians last night inaugurated the first of the Teen-Timers affairs to be held every Sunday night in the St. Aloysius Catholic parochial school.

The function was in the form of a dance with a recorder furnishing the music for dancing from 8 till 10 o'clock. Over 75 youngsters appeared last night with faces wreathed in smiles to start the night off with a bang-up attendance. It is expected that the affair will continue to attract an even greater number of boys and girls as time goes on. Refreshments are provided.

The affair will always have chaperones present. Last night Mr. and Mrs. John J. Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Heath were the sponsors and chaperones.

AMONG THE DANCERS WERE: Eileen McGee, Kathleen McGee, Betty Bolognese, Theresa Bodolus, Ann Peto, Margaret Yonkovich, Virginia Hoffman, Anna Reubert, Sandra McAndrew, Barbara Yerger, Delores Frick, Mary Giangiacomo, Vilma Psota, Louise Keene, Theresa Quinter, Marie Quinter, Jackie Carr, Barbara Yonkovich, Barbara McCarthy, Barbara McDevitt, Mary Lou McCarthy, Janet Monaghan and Graceann Reiter.

Also Irene Core, Dorothy Tobin, Richard Powell, Robert Kelly, David McCarthy, Paul Yonkovich, Claude Conger, Dennis Underwood, Michael Wielgus, Ricky Lucel, Joe Stranick, Ronny Berthold, Rocco Coteliese, James Chappie, Stephen Stranick, Carl Petrucelli, William Friel, Brendan Perry, Theresa Stranick, Nancy DiGiosia, Helen Pirochak, Joan Frock, Sylvia Dori, Emilie Kappes, Rita Browne, Mary Wahl, Patricia Gaugler, Joan Borgiet, Margaret Stranick, Margaret Seel and Nancy Metz.

Also Eleanor Gantert, Kathleen Borgiet, Ann Sosa, Francis Yonkovich, Stanley Yuros, George Holinejack, Richard Repko, Gene Cecak, Thomas Keene and Virginia Diener.

Miss Betty Alderfer Elected to Masquers

Miss Betty A. Alderfer, Parkersford, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Alderfer, is one of nine students at Juniata college who has been selected for the Masquers, an undergraduate dramatics organization.

Miss Alderfer, a junior majoring in Spanish, is a graduate of North Coventry high school.

Election to the Masquers is based on points awarded for participation either in the cast or stage crew of dramatic productions. Miss Alderfer completed her requirements in "The Dover Road" which played to a sell-out crowd for nine nights.

The Parkersford coed also was one of four nominees for the office of secretary in Juniata college's student senate.

Mr. James Kritiz and Dorothy Groover United in Marriage

In St. Gabriel's Catholic church, Stowe, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock Miss Dorothy Groover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Groover, 122 Berks street, Stowe, became the bride of Mr. James Kritiz, 413 Lincoln avenue, with the Rev. Francis E. Suchanek, rector, performing the single ring ceremony. Mr. Kritiz is the son of Mrs. Florence Kritiz.

As the bridal party took their places before an altar banked with white snapdragons and palms, and in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives, Miss Martha Antrim presented several vocal solos, accompanied at the organ by Mr. Arthur Pickard.

Looking smilingly beautiful as she was given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in a period costume of lace featuring an off-the-shoulder net illusion neckline. The off-the-shoulder collar was caught intermittently with orange blossoms at the top of the fitted bodice. The full-hooped skirt ended in a large circular train. The chapel veil was caught at a halo type tiara of net trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a huge bouquet of white calla lilies.

ATTENDING AS maid of honor was her sister, Miss Jane Groover, who appeared in a maize colored gown of taffeta designed on period lines. The tightly-fitted bodice contained a high neckline topped with a small Peter Pan collar and cap sleeves, and was attached to full skirt featuring a bustle-type peplum. Her headpiece was a band of daisies and ivy matching the cascade bouquet of daisies and ivy with white bow which she carried. She wore matching taffeta mitts.

Miss Barbara Groover, another sister, appeared as bridesmaid, dressed in a gown of line green taffeta, styled on similar lines as the maid of honor. Her headpiece, bouquet and mitts were as of the maid of honor's in matching color.

Mr. John Rutkowski performed the duties of best man, while Mr. Steven Vagasky was the usher.

Mrs. Groover chose for the wedding a gray silk dress with black accessories, while the mother of the bridegroom was in a navy dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses and white stephanotis.

A reception was held for the newlyweds at the home of the bride, following which the couple left for a two-week trip through Florida. For her going-away ensemble the bride chose a black and white cross point suit with pink and black accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

Guests attended the wedding from New Jersey, Philadelphia, Phoenixville, Reading and Stowe. The bridegroom was graduated from Pottstown High school, class of '37, while the bride was graduated from the same school in '40. Both are employed by the Doehler-Jarvis corporation.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

LEADING away from non-touching honors is usually unwise against a suit contract because there are seldom more than two or three high-card tricks taken in any side suit against a trump contract and therefore the jeopardizing of these constituents net loss, with no compensating gain. Against a No Trump contract, however, it may pay to waste one or more of those high tricks if by so doing you establish one or more lower cards as trick-takers.

West allowed South's No Trump bid to scare him out of leading his diamonds. A lead of that suit would be likely to present South with a trick, he reckoned, and so he chose instead his club 6. East won with the A and returned his diamond 10, which South covered with the J and the Q could win. West reckoned, however, that this would kill the whole suit, so he ducked. His hope was that East could get the lead again and have a chance to lead through South's marked K.

South seized upon this opportunity to finesse the club 10, cash the K and then run three tricks in each major to have his game.

The contract would have been ruined if West had made the sound lead of his diamond 4 — especially sound because his suit was of five cards. South could have taken a cheap trick there with his J. But in order to get nine tricks he would have had to seek a couple in the minors, more particularly in clubs. As soon as he did this, East would win with the A and counter with a diamond. That would have trapped South's K and enabled the defenders to take four tricks in the suit, beating the contract by one.

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

How should South play to avoid loss of a trick in each red suit after West leads the spade 9 against 6-Spades?

Boyertown Thinclads Take Quadrangular Track Meet; Trojans Finish in 2d Place

Trailing second-place Reading Central Catholic by seven points with only two events remaining on the program, the Trojans of Pottstown High picked up ten points in the broad jump and discus to squeeze into the runnerup position behind Boyertown Saturday afternoon in the quadrangular track and field meet on Reading's home field at St. Lawrence.

Boyertown collected a total of 62 points to win the third annual meet, replacing Pottstown as champions. The Trojans took second place by edging Central, 41½-40½. Mohnton trailed in fourth place with ten points.

Coach Francis "Doc" Sell's Boyertown thinclads won eight of the 14 events on the program Saturday. Pottstown annexed two events, Reading took three and Mohnton captured one.

Although his team finished in third place, Johnny Gallen, Central speedster, took individual scoring honors with 11½ points by winning both hurdle events and turning the third lap for Reading's winning mile relay team.

BOYERTOWN'S Bill Body was second with 11 points, and Jack Rothenberger was third with ten.

Quebec Preparing For Spring and Summer Tourists

QUEBEC, P. Q., April 11, 1948 — The year-round quality of the Province of Quebec as a vacationland is never more apparent than at this time of year.

The transition from winter to spring in the Province of Quebec means little to the active sportsman. No sooner has he stowed away his skis or hidden farewell to his curling irons — than the Province's trout streams are beckoning and the golfers are getting their first hooks and slices under control.

The excellent network of highways which link the Province's major vacation centres to the metropolitan centres of Montreal and Quebec City is being enlarged this year to take care of the ever-increasing flow of visitors from the United States. Lying within overnight reach of 50,000 Americans, Quebec's vacation possibilities are greatly enhanced by the fine system of highways and secondary roads that makes access to even remote parts of the Province speedy and comfortable.

Moreover, railroads, bus lines and air services—scheduled or charter—round out the transportation picture to the point where it is the finest in Canada.

Much of Quebec's appeal to visitors lies in the fact that it offers more to the tourist than any other section of the Dominion. In the first place, Quebec is French without being France. It is Canadian in a distinctively different way. Its mode of life, its customs, its language set it apart from any other part of the continent.

Quebec has scope — 594,534 square miles—with more than 90 per cent of the Province taken up by the Laurentian Plateau. It is rich in forests, rivers and streams, and wise conservation laws have assured the perpetuation of its wild-life. Scenically, the Province of Quebec ranks with the beauty spots of North America. The Laurentians, North of Montreal, the Eastern Townships, Gaspé, the Gatineau Hills, the Saguenay-Lac St. Jean region, the North Shore of the St. Lawrence River, and the St. Maurice Valley, are only some of the scenically beautiful holiday areas which dot the Province.

Quebec's vast water resources, unmatched in North America, permit not only extensive cruising by luxurious commercial passenger ships and private yachts, but the full development of all aquatic recreation. Sailing, dinghy racing, speed boat regattas, canoe meets and swimming competitions are highlights of the Province's summer season.

Golf is available on all types of courses within easy reach of any urban centre. Quebec fishing offers land-locked salmon, small mouth bass, and fighting muskellunge, trout, speckled and rainbow trout. Dore riding, cycling trips, walking tours, river cruises are some of the attractions that await the visitor.

The historical charm and dignity of old Quebec City is contrasted with the bustling gaiety of Montreal, metropolis of Canada on the banks of the St. Lawrence. The rugged beauty of Gaspé, seen best by automobile, supplements the virgin forest and bountiful game and fish that lie within Laurentide Park. North of Quebec City.

Montreal's summer music season, which brings the continent's finest artists to the metropolis for outdoor concerts, provides entertainment for thousands of visitors who also are afforded the gayest night life in Canada.

Deeply religious, the people of Quebec, manifest their convictions throughout their land. World fame attends the shrine of Ste Anne de Beaupre, below Quebec City, while St. Joseph's Oratory in Montreal, and the sanctuary of the Virgin at Cap-de-la-Madeleine near Trois-Rivières has attracted pilgrims by the hundreds of thousands.

Although French is spoken by almost 70 per cent of the inhabitants, Quebec is not so much foreign as different. The Gallic enthusiasms of its people, the inherent politeness and hospitality shown to strangers, the pleasantly soft impact of its place names, the variety of its menus, the comfort and luxury of its hotels and inns, and above all, the sense of tradition that encompasses its daily way of life, make Quebec outstanding unlike anything else in the Western hemisphere.

Bracing climate, magnificent scenery, splendid transportation facilities, luxurious accommodation, fishing hunting and a wide range of sports supplement the old-world charm of the unique, year-round vacation land that is the Province of Quebec. (Adv.)

LOCAL DOGS WIN 18 PLACES IN READING SHOW

Boston Terrier, Owned by Mrs. Alice Kurtz, Gives Outstanding Performance

Dog lovers and breeders from Pottstown and vicinity captured 18 places in the various events of the Berks County Kennel club's AKC sanctioned match show in the Reading Armory yesterday afternoon.

A total of 141 dogs were entered in the show, held for the benefit of the Girl Scout council of Berks county. Thirty-eight champions appeared at the show and were awarded champion plaques.

Mrs. Alice H. Kurtz's Boston terrier, Greenbush Miss Request, again turned in the best performance by a local dog. The terrier was judged best of breed and best in the non-sporting group, repeating its showing at the Perkiomen Valley club's show a week ago.

John R. Kurtz, Pottstown RD 4, entered Greenbush Here's How's Reply in the show. The Boston terrier was judged the best adult in its class.

MRS. PAUL KILBURN'S three champions highlighted the parade of champions Mrs. Kilburn showed a mother, daughter and grandson in the parade of champions and received champion plaques for each dog. Champion Dow's Illena of Maria Land is the mother, Champion Kilburn Audacity is the daughter and Champion Kilburn Conquerer is the grandson.

Kilburn Ideal, a Doberman pinscher, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Shelton, Pottstown RD 1, was also shown by Mrs. Kilburn and was judged best of breed and second in the working group.

Other local winners were Dr. J. W. Armstrong's Irish setter, Red Rock Boys Amber, first place in the novice bitch class; Collene of Sonora II, Irish setter owned by Mrs. Bertha M. Graves, Stonersville, judged best of breed; Pilot of Setfield, English setter, also owned by Mrs. Graves, first place in the open male and open bitch classes respectively; MacGregor Phyl, Airedale terrier owned by C. W. Berger, Spring City RD 1, judged best Airedale puppy; Memory of Sand Blown Acres, English Springer owned by Mrs. H. Alvin Cressman, Pine Forge, second place in the open class; Red Hope of Hunterpet, Cocker spaniel owned by Mrs. Bessie Gaugler, of Pennsburg, judged best of breed and fourth in the sporting group; Harlyn Headliner, Cocker spaniel also owned by Mrs. Gaugler, second place in the open dog class; Pomwins Dandy

Upper Montco Baseball Teams In Action; Pirates Open Season

Royersford, defending Upper Montco league champs, will go after their second consecutive victory this afternoon when they take on Coach Norm Snyder's Pennsburg nine at Royersford.

The Eagles, back under the wing of Coach Bob McNelly, defeated West Pottsgrove the past week in their league opener, 7-4. Johnny Fearheller handcuffed the Falcons with five hits.

McNelly isn't sure of his pitching assignment for today's tussle. It may be Fearheller again or it may be Jack Keiter. If Keiter starts on the mound, Fearheller will hold down one of the outfield posts.

The Royersford mentor will probably start the same team that defeated the Falcons at West Potts-grove. Pennsburg lost a heart-breaker to Schwenkville the past week when Hal Yerger pitched a one-hitter but made two errors in one inning that gave the Bluebirds a 1-0 victory.

SNYDER will probably call on Yerger to go to the mound again today, hoping that he may silence the bats of the powerful Royersford sluggers.

In another game this afternoon, West Pottsgrove travels to Collegeville to meet the Colonels. Collegeville and the Falcons will be shooting for victory No. 1 this afternoon.

The Colonels dropped their opener the past Thursday to a young East Greenville team. Gerry Claycomb will start on the mound for the Colonels this afternoon, opposing West Pottsgrove's Jess Baro. Baro gave up ten hits to Royersford in losing 7-4 the past week.

Schwenkville, with one victory already in the record books, plays host to East Greenville today. Both teams won their openers and will be battling for the top spot in the league standings.

COACH C. A. ROSS, of East Greenville, will stick to the same lineup that pounded out a 5-1 win over Collegeville. The East Greenville mentor, however, was unsure of his starting pitcher last night. Coach Mike Hader announced that Ernie Gaugler, the lad who twirled a two-hitter against Pennsburg Thursday, will be called on to pitch against the Greenies this afternoon.

All Montco league games are scheduled to start this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

In the Southern division of the Berks County conference, Boyertown High, with one victory and one defeat, faces Mohnton High at Boyertown this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Coach Warren Fry's proteges dropped the league opener to Birdsboro a week ago but came back to hand Oley a 7-0 setback Thursday on the strength of Paul Ludy's three-hitter.

FRY ANNOUNCED last night that Paul Moatz, backbone of Boyertown's pitching staff, will go to the hill today. Moatz will be looking for his first victory of the year after losing to Birdsboro in his first time out.

Spring City High's Pirates open their season this afternoon at Spring City, playing host to Downingtown High in a non-league affair. Game time is 3:30 o'clock.

Dick Mull or Larry Davis will twirl for the Pirates this afternoon. Mull, who pitched a no-hitter a year ago, will probably get the starting call. If Mull does go to the mound, Davis will see action at shortstop.

Kiwanians to Honor Tournament Winners

Members of the Pottstown Stealers, Reading Polish Falcons and Clover Park basketball teams will be honored by the Pottstown Kiwanis club tonight at a banquet in the Elks home. The affair will start at 6:15 o'clock.

The Stealers are the champions of the first annual Kiwanis Invitational Basketball tournament and each player on the team will receive a red satin jacket and a gold watch-charm basketball. Coach Ed Good will receive a large trophy. Each member of the Reading Falcons, runnersup in the tournament, will be presented with a silver watch-charm basketball. The Clover Park team, third place quintet in the tournament, will receive prizes.

Trophies will also be awarded to the winner of the most outstanding shot in tournament games and to the most sportsmanlike player.

Harmon Ties Record to Win Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 11 (P) — Claude Harmon, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., practically unknown to big time golf, shot a two under par 70 today to win the Masters Golf tournament with a record-tying total of 279.

Harmon, who was identified in the pre-tournament publicity as simply one of those who qualified for the 12th annual event by finishing in the top 24 for the 1947 event, is a native of Georgia. He was born at Savannah.

The chunky, swarthy cheekek pro came to the 18th green needing a par four to tie the all-time low of 279 for this $10,000 event set by Raph Guldhall in the 1939 meet.

THE 31-YEAR-OLD STYLISH went into the final round today with a two-stroke lead over the field at 209, and performed like a champion to crack par by three strokes on the outgoing nine with a 33. Carey Middlecoff, Memphis dentist, was second with 284 on the strength of a 70 today.

ERRORS COSTLY FOR EPISCOPAL

Pitchers Shine in First Game of Season; Both Teams Held to Four Hits

Collecting only four hits, but taking advantage of two bases on balls and four errors, The Hill's baseball team scored three times in the second inning and once in the sixth frame to defeat Episcopal academy, 4-1, Saturday afternoon on the latter's field.

Houston Hale went the full distance for the Blue and Grey, limiting Episcopal to four hits, walking none and striking out four batters.

Hale got better support from his teammates than did his opponent, Frank Borda. Borda went the first five innings for Episcopal before giving way to Harry Hurtubise.

ART FRIEMUTH opened the big second inning for The Hill by working Borda for a base on balls. After The Hill outfielder advanced to second on a wide pitch, Hale reached first base on another free pass. Lockwood singled to drive in the first run, and an error allowed the two Hill runners to move into scoring position.

Web Abbott then blasted a grounder toward third, and another error allowed Hale and Lockwood to dent the plate to give the visitors a 3-0 lead.

Episcopal scored their only run in the same inning. Al Stelert opened the inning with a double, and when Schneider grounded out, Stelert advanced to third. Judson bounced to Hale, and The Hill pitcher threw wild to the plate allowing Stelert to score.

After three scoreless frames, The Hill dented the plate in the sixth inning on two errors, a stolen base and Dick Harter's line single.

Sutherland, Famous Grid Mentor, Dies After Two Brain Operations

PITTSBURGH, April 11 (AP)—Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland, one of the nation's leading college and professional football coaches, died early today after an operation for a malignant brain tumor.

The 59-year-old coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football league succumbed at 4:15 a. m. (Pottstown time). Death came four hours after he had undergone the second of two emergency brain operations.

Sutherland was found wandering near his mired auto on a country road near Bandana, Ky., the past Wednesday. At that time he was able to tell his name but was otherwise incoherent. He was treated at a Cairo, Ill. hospital for possible mental exhaustion.

He was flown to Pittsburgh Friday night. The brain condition was discovered yesterday and an immediate four-hour exploratory operation performed. Doctors then discovered the tumor.

Another four-hour surgery was performed last night but physicians said they were unable to remove it.

able to do anything because the tumor was of a malignant nature.

Sutherland left Pittsburgh three weeks ago on a combined vacation and scouting trip for the Steelers. As usual, he traveled alone.

HE IS KNOWN to have visited Wallace Wade at Duke university, Durham, N. C., and to have been in New Orleans. His movements from the time he left New Orleans until he was found are a mystery.

Because of his taciturn nature, he was frequently referred to as the "Silent Scot" or "The Great Stone Face." His football record places him among the nation's first five grid mentors in all-time winning percentages.

Only Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, Fielding Yost of Michigan, Wallace Wade of Duke and Frank Thomas, former coach at Alabama, have improved on his all-time record of 172 games won, 44 lost and 15 ties for an .800 percentage.

HIS GREATEST SUCCESS was at the University of Pittsburgh—his alma mater—where in 15 years as head coach he sent four teams

Philadelphia Named For Convention of Third Party, July 24

CHICAGO, April 11 (P)—The national Wallace for President committee today called a national founding convention of the third party at the Philadelphia Convention hall July 24 and 25.

The convention is expected to nominate Henry A. Wallace for president and Senator Glen Taylor (D-Iowa) for vice president. It will select a name for the new independent party.

The 400 delegates to a third party conference here also adopted an anti-war resolution and called for "establishment of a truly representative Democratic Italian government."

They condemned "the efforts of our government to interfere in the April 18 elections and to dictate their outcome."

The peace resolution declared that "the militarists and monopolists preach that war is inevitable against a great ally in the common struggle" and that "responsible leaders are moving with calculated steps to militarize our way of life."

"UNDER COVER of war hysteria" the resolution said, "political bankruptcy seeks to retrieve its losses, monopoly to maintain its profits, and militarists their dominance."

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, president of the Townsend Clubs of America, urged delegates to work for a national "cradle-to-grave insurance plan as the best guarantee against depression."

Townsend told the conference he favored Sen. Glen H. Taylor (D-Idaho) for the vice-presidency because he is "not controlled by big business."

The condemnation of U. S. activities bearing upon the Italian election was contained in a message cabled to the heads of six political parties in Rome, the Italian house of deputies and the Comitato Per la Tregua.

The message urged the Italian people "to vote for the candidates of their free choice and not to yield to coercion or intimidation."

IT SAID, "We repudiate our government's threat to cut off food from Italy unless the election results please it. Hungry children must not go unfed because their parents do not vote as ordered from abroad." The message endorsed "the Wallace plan for international aid through the United Nations to all needy peoples regardless of their political beliefs."

The peace resolution, presented by Mrs. Lawrence D. Steffel of Minneapolis, Minn., called for defeat of draft and universal military training legislation, a halt to "wasteful" arms expenditures and a stop to "the militarizing of our science."

Maria Assunta Lodge Admits Eight Members

Eight new members were accepted by Maria Assunta lodge at its meeting yesterday morning in the lodge home. The rest of the brief session was devoted to routine business, Jerry Ottaviano, president, reported.

Two Are Convicted Of Using Mails for Fraud

SCRANTON, April 11 (P)—The Housing Foundation of America, Inc., and two of its former officers were convicted yesterday of using the mails to defraud.

U. S. District Judge John W. Murphy immediately sentenced Otto C. Westfield, Courtland, to 12½ years in prison. He deferred sentence of T. William Smith, Jersey City, N. J., pending an investigation.

The Government charged the two men collected more than $150,000 for the Wilkes-Barre corporation in deposits on prefabricated houses, but failed to produce them and never returned the deposits.

Back From Berlin

On her arrival in Washington from Berlin, Germany, Mrs. L. J. Barret, Carmel, Cal., said that two Russian Yak fighter planes "buzzed" the American plane she was aboard near the German capital. She is shown with her adopted daughter, Michele, a two-year-old French orphan. Mrs. Barret is the wife of Lt. L. J. Barret, a liaison officer with the United States forces in Berlin.

Borough Briefs

Joseph J. Witkowski, of Reading, will receive a summons from Justice of the Peace Charles A. Andre, of the West ward, on a charge of reckless driving.

Witkowski was accused by Patrolman Paul Galloway of cutting to the west side of High street, in the face of oncoming traffic, while eastbound on the road, at the Green street intersection, at 8:10 p. m., the past Saturday.

Several hundred persons had returned to comb the beaches today along with additional hundreds of autoists who drove down to inspect the diggings.

In face of the cold, discouraging rain, however, only about 25 persons continued the search.

A copper coin and two of the familiar gold coins turned up today by unidentified visitors to the shore resort, brought to 21 the total loot to date. Three Highland men reported finding one coin each late yesterday.

The volume of trading on the New York Stock Exchange dropped from 363,700,000 in 1946 to 253,600,000 in 1947.

Pirate Treasure Hunt Continues in New Jersey

HIGHLANDS, N. J., April 11 (P)—A pelting rain put a temporary damper on the Shrewsbury river treasure hunt today, after three more 18th century coins had been uncovered.

Several hundred persons had returned to comb the beaches today along with additional hundreds of autoists who drove down to inspect the diggings.

In face of the cold, discouraging rain, however, only about 25 persons continued the search.

Poles Developing Uranium Ore Deposits; Russia Aids in Extracting A-Bomb Material

WARSAW, April 11 (P)—Poles are feverishly developing what their government regards as Europe's second largest deposit of uranium, a basic element of the atomic bomb. Russian engineers are reported to be aiding them.

A big mine is in operation in lower Silesia 62 miles southwest of Wroclaw, the name the Poles have given to the pre-war German city of Breslau. The mine is said to employ 1200 men. The poles have been exploiting the find since 1946.

The project area is closely watched and restricted. Two assistant U. S. military attaches, Lt. Col. Frank Jessie and Capt. Nicholas Rudziak, were taken into custody April 1 while on an automobile trip in the region.

Polish security police took them to two towns and questioned them for several hours before releasing them.

Jessie, of Beaumont, Tex., and Weirton, W. Va., is generally regarded as one of the best American intelligence officers in Eastern Europe. He left Poland yesterday by mutual agreement between the American and Polish governments, a Polish spokesman said.

THE INFORMANT indicated that the Polish government considered the incident closed and probably would not make a formal reply to Ambassador Stanton Griffith's note protesting the detention of the two men. Rudziak, of Maynard, Mass., has succeeded Jessie who is returning to the United States for reassignment.

Apparently because they do not want the project publicized, the Poles have labelled their uranium mine an iron ore project. Recently the name of the mine site was changed from Krzyzatkia to Kowary. It is situated between the towns of Kamienio Gora and Jelenia Gora.

It is believed that the uranium ore found thus far has been of a relatively poor grade. However, the poles are optimistic that further development will show the extent of the deposit is exceeded in Europe only by that in the Soviet Union.

Existence of the deposit was revealed Nov. 27, 1946 by Prof. K. Bohdanowicz, a Russian-trained Polish geologist. He told the Warsaw newspaper Wiecez that the field held immense possibilities. The Germans first found and began exploiting the deposit toward the end of the war.

BOHDANOWICZ DIED IN 1947. For a long time he was director of the geological institute in Leningrad and helped the Russians in the exploitation of uranium in the Urals.

His early reports on the Lower Silesia deposit said that the Germans, in addition to finding uranium, also had obtained one gram of radium in the Krzyzatkia district the year before the war ended. Bohdanowicz added that the area was rich in many minerals. He estimated the copper deposits alone at nearly 2,900,000 tons.

An authoritative source said as many as 60 railroad cars of ore now are leaving the Krzyzatkia district daily. The uranium mine is about 190 miles due west of Gliwice (Gleiwitz) where the Polish government is starting the construction of huge Soviet-equipped steel mills. They are designed to more than double the nation's steel output. Machinery and equipment are being supplied to Poland under the recent five-year trade pact with Russia.
